Digital Media & Design Department

Name: _____ Peoplesoft I.D. #: _____ Departmental G.P.A: _____

Semester Year: _____ Concentration: _____

Independent Study is an opportunity for students to pursue an academic topic in depth, and/or to undertake a significant research project under the guidance of a faculty member. Independent studies should cover academic topics that are not typically included in regular course offerings.

Each independent study should involve a theme; a problem to be investigated, an issue to be explored, or an argument to be defended. Students should have a compelling interest in the proposed study and should have completed courses that would provide the appropriate background or preparation for the independent study.

Including this course, total DMD 5099 credits for all semesters (limited to 6): _____
